Mr. and Mrs. Frazler's Dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frazler entertained at an informal dance on Tuesday evening, the occasion being both Mrs. Frazler's birthday and the departure for the mainland the next day of Mrs. Frederick Lyser. Their attractive residence in Manoa was further decorated with ferns and greenery. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Belser, Mrs. Tricou, Mr. and Mrs. Kelley Brown, Mr. Raymond Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Clegg, Mr. and Mrs. John Drew, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lyser, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Lindeman, Mr. and Mrs. Marston Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Young, Mr. and Mrs. George Angus and others.

Mrs. Lombard's Garden Party.

The Richard Ivers' home at Kalahe, was the scene of a very enjoyable garden party last Sunday afternoon, when Mrs. Harry Lombard, a winter visitor to the islands from Los Angeles, entertained a number of her friends here. The affair was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thomas, their house guests. The afternoon was spent out-of-doors on the spacious lawn from which the guests could admire the exceptional beauty of the surrounding scenery. Karl was in unusually good form and the music of his quietest lent an additional bit of local color to the affair. Perhaps the most interesting feature of the afternoon was the violin playing just at sunset of Miss Sherman, an accomplished musician of San Francisco. About thirty guests motored out from Honolulu and Schofield. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will probably remain here some little time, returning to their home in Los Angeles at the same time the Lombards depart.

at the Manoa Hotel. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. James Blum, Mrs. Edwin O. Child, Dr. P. Janss, Harold Janss, T. B. Thiele, Dr. Thedy of the "Manoa," and Mr. and Mrs. Young.

Mrs. Thurston's Luncheon.

Mrs. L. A. Thurston was hostess at a dainty affair on Thursday when she entertained at luncheon at her home on Bates street. A charming centerpiece was arranged with sweet peas and violets, while at each place were individual corsages of the same fragrant blossoms. The list of guests included Mrs. C. A. Brown, Mrs. E. E. Paxton, Mrs. F. B. McStocker, Mrs. Z. K. Myers, Mrs. A. W. Payson, Mrs. William Hobdy and Mrs. Irwin Shepherd.

Mrs. Johnson's Bridge.

The first affair to take place in the new cantonment at Fort Shafter was the bridge party given this week by Mrs. Walter Johnson in her artistic quarters. Her guests included Mrs. James E. Bell, Mrs. F. H. French, Mrs. Benjamin Watkins, Mrs. M. Lenihan, Miss Eleanor Lenihan, Mrs. Tower, Mrs. E. V. Smith, Mrs. W. R. Gibson, Mrs. Treseott, Miss Hughes, Miss Harrison, Mrs. George Gibb, Mrs. George F. Jamerson, Mrs. Barrie Gamble, Mrs. O. Rosenbaum, Mrs. Joseph Kay, Mrs. Clyde Parker, Mrs. Frederick Cook, Mrs. F. F. Black, Mrs. L. O. Mathews, Mrs. Robert M. Culler, Mrs. Warren Hannum, Mrs. Alfred Roe and Mrs. Arthur Bump. The prizes were charming cretonne boxes for the dressing table and were awarded to Mrs. Joseph Kay, first, Mrs. James Bell, second, and Mrs. Tower, booby. Miss Eleanor Lenihan won the consolation prize, a dainty cretonne sewing basket fully equipped. After the playing, a delicious buffet tea was served, concluding the afternoon most delightfully.

Mrs. Wilder's Tea.

It wasn't really a tea—Mrs. Gerrit Wilder's affair on Tuesday—but a gathering of old friends to say good-by to Mrs. Macomb before she sailed Wednesday morning. Fifty or more came in an informal way and spent the afternoon. Her house was aglow with hibiscus—the many, exquisite varieties for which Gerrit Wilder is famous. There were palms and ferns, of course, but all gave way to the wondrous hibiscus. Mrs. George Carter poured tea and Mrs. Edward Carter coffee. Mrs. Will Whitnev and Miss Marion Scott presided at the much bowl. All the Wilders were present, and General and Mrs. Carter, General Edwards, Admiral and Mrs. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Swanx and many others—the more intimate friends of Mrs. Macomb—who welcomed this last opportunity of greeting the popular society woman before she left. Many were down at the wharf the next day to help make the triumphal arch of pink leis as she passed up the gangway. It was a charming idea and one that will never be forgotten either by Mrs. Macomb or by those who took part in the pretty ceremony.

The Summer Regatta.

This is the time of year when the good folk of Honolulu are looking up steamer schedules and planning out summer wardrobes and deciding the harrowing question of whether to buy their new hats here or to await their arrival on the mainland before purchasing. The summer exodus will not be as great this year, thanks to the tariff and the present eccentricities of dividends. But the favored few are already making their plans. For fishing in Vancouver, hunting in the Sierras, and just plain gadding in San Francisco the object is just the same—a change of scene and climate, not to mention shopping sprees and new clothes—most important of all from the feminine standpoint. Many will wander along eastward to enjoy the New Zealand fashions, while a chosen few have selected Europe for their summer destination—among the latter being Mrs. Charles Cooke and her charming daughter Alice, and perhaps Mrs. Alexander Hawes Jr., a little later. Mrs. Hawes, by the way, has been to Europe many times and is as familiar with the by-ways of the old world as she is of the new. The annual flight was really first started by yesterday's excursion to Japan, among the society folk who sailed for Dai Nippon being Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Mott-Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kennedy of Hilo, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Scott, Mr. Riley H. Allen, the Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Westervelt and Mr. R. O. Matheson.

Miss Schuman's Luncheon.

A very pretty luncheon was given on Tuesday by Miss Myrtle Schuman, who entertained for Mrs. Reynold McGrew and the Misses Marguerite Wadman, Rose Herbert, Pauline Schaefer and Hazel Buckland. Dainty pink flowers were used on the table with favors and place cards to match. After luncheon, the guests brought out their thimbles and devoted the remainder of the afternoon to needlework.

Miss Easton Engaged

The many Honolulu friends of the Ansel Eastons of Easton, California, will be interested to learn of their daughter's marriage, the following account of which was taken from the San Francisco News-Letter:

"A telegram today from Mr. Ansel Mills Easton says: Miss Louise Easton and William Ward were married Wednesday at noon at the New York residence of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, 451 Madison avenue, Dean Grosvenor, of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, officiating. Only intimate members of the family were present, among them Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Orden Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Whitman, Mrs. Charles E. Alexander. The attendants were Miss Jane Easton, Miss Gladys Melges, and Miss Lois Cunningham. Laurence P. Easton was best man. The couple left for Washington, and sail for Europe on the 25th.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Mills Easton of Burlingame, and very popular in local society circles, and the news of her wedding comes as a pleasant surprise to her many friends on both sides of the bay. The bridegroom has for the past four years been associated with the Easton property adjoining Hillsborough, having gone to New York but a few weeks previous to the meeting with the Easton family there a couple of weeks ago. Mr. and Mrs. Ward, after a wedding tour abroad, during which they will visit Mr. Ward's home in Ely, Leicestershire, England, will return to California, where they expect to make their home.

Mrs. Campbell's Luncheon.

Exquisite in every detail was the luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. A. J. Campbell at her home on Baretania street in honor of Mrs. G. R. Rodolf of Oakland. Orchids in all their lovely pastel coloring were used in the decorations. A shower of them occupied the center of the table, the stems caught here and there with white feathered doves. From this were arches of misty maline in rainbow tints, extending from dainty bowls of forget-me-nots, pink roses and ferns. The place cards were Easter baskets in pinks and blues, other favors embodying the colors. About the house were ferns and palms and great bowls of pink roses, while here and there were perched the snow-white doves. Mrs. Rodolf the guest of honor, is a prominent society woman of Oakland, a visitor for the past few weeks at the Moana hotel. She will sail for her mainland home on the next Matsonia. Invited to meet her were Mrs. Frederick Klebahn, Miss Margaret Walker, Mrs. Frank Halstead, Mrs. J. P. Cooke, Mrs. J. McDowsett, Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Mrs. George Rodick, Mrs. A. Lewis, Mrs. S. G. Wilder, Mrs. George Carter and Mrs. James Wilder.

Mr. and Mrs. McCandless' Dinner.

A lovely affair of the week was the dinner given on Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. John McCandless in honor of Mrs. Herbert O'Brien of Detroit, who sailed on Wednesday's Wilhelmina. The table was charmingly decorated with fairy-like sweet peas in tints of lavender and pink. After dinner a number of musical folk came in and the evening was given over to that delightful form of entertainment. Among those present were Mrs. Herbert O'Brien, Colonel and Mrs. F. H. French, Mrs. Sarah Newcomb, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Newcomb, Mrs. Howland, Colonel and Mrs. J. B. McDon-
